I.

And so they whisper about us -
About me and about you?
And so they whisper about us?
Let us give them reason to!

(11-10-08)

II.

To all those people that say
That honour and good are dead
Many things might well be said;
One of them is that they lie.

(12-10-08)

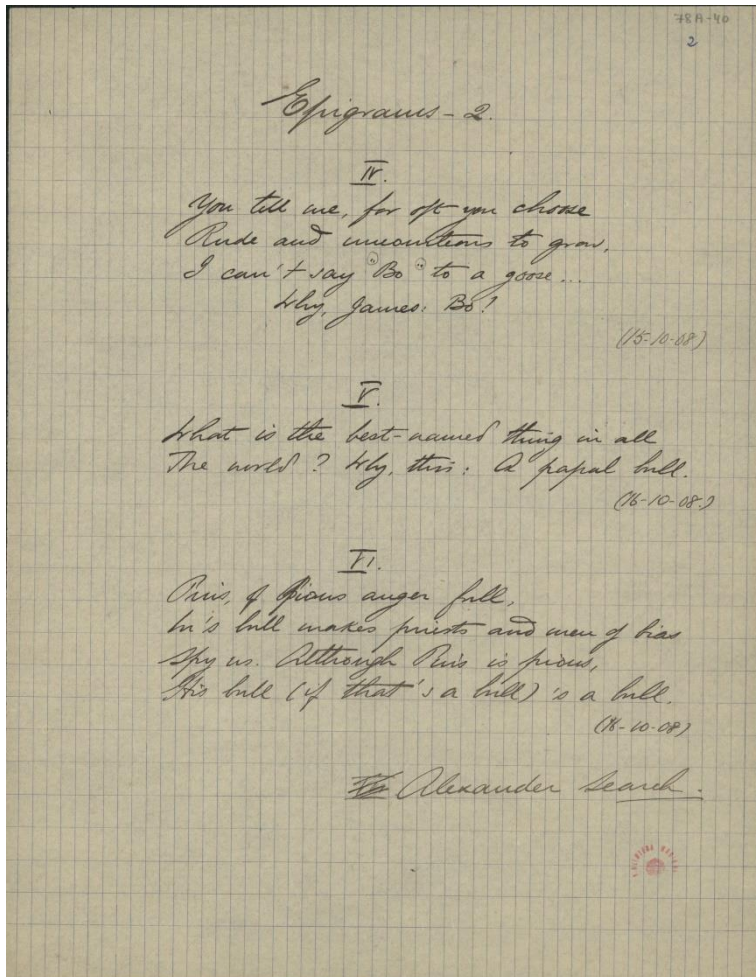

III.

If rank the guinea-stamp but be,
Why, to this one thing may be said:
That 'tis only midst men we see
A guinea-stamp on head.

IV.

You tell me, for oft you choose
Rude and uncourteous to grow,
I can't say "Bo!" to a goose...
Why, James: Bo!

(15-10-08)

V.

What is the best-named thing in all
The world? Why, this: A papal bull.

(16-10-08.)

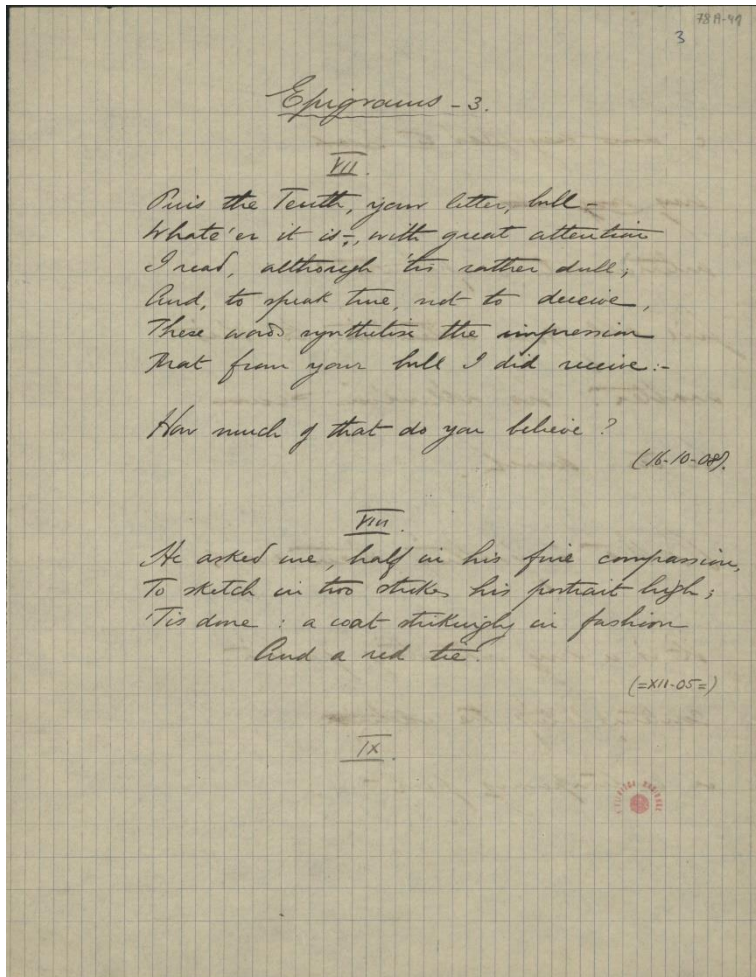

VI.

Pius, of pious anger full,
In's bull makes priests and men of bias
Spy us. Although Pius is pious,
His bull (if that's a bull) 's a bull.

VII.

Pius the Tenth, your letter, bull -
Whate'er it is, with great attention
I read, although 'tis rather dull;
And, to speak true, not to deceive,
These words synthetise the impression
That from your bull I did receive: -

How much of that do you believe?

(16-10-08).

VIII.

He asked me, half in his fine compassion,
To sketch in two strokes his portrait high;
'Tis done: a coat strikingly in fashion
And a red tie.

They say that all roads lead to Rome,
And, what's more, it is true;
But it is clear most of them must
Lead crookedly thereto.

~~Marriage is death to poetry,
Even if love nor name nor flee,
Poor Dora, this you know is true,
For before marriage he loved thee,
And after marriage he loved loves you.~~
